Tripsavvy uses cookies to offer you a great user experience. By using Tripsavvy, you agree to our use of cookies. Listen to yourself, listen to yourself. Shouting at all lords and ladies, maidens and nobles, magicians and wenches. Get entry to las Vegas' most popular dinner show, Kings Tournament. Watch a performance full of magicians, knights and, of course, kings as well as large amounts of action-packed sword fighting and jousting. Party on Cornish game cocks, raise your stein and call the action by playing in front of you. What does it take to make a show of medieval proportions? For starters, a stable of 30 horses, 10 of which are used in each performance. The swords are titanium and create sparks during battle sequences. Over the course of a year, approximately 3,900 spears are smashed in the furious jousting competition. Such is the spectacle that it is Kings Tournament. The show begins with the visit of Merlin, who explains that each section of the audience is a 'country' and each country has a king. Prepare to cheer yours up as the show begins. King Arthur brings together the rulers of Europe for an extravagant banquet and competition. Kings test their cavalry skills while riding horses. But this is where things get interesting: King Arthur's generous hospitality meets hostility when evil magician Mordred invades the party. The kings of Europe must unite to defeat him. invited to the banquet. Start with a delicious bowl of dragon blood. (Here's a secret: it's actually it's soup.) Party at a game of Cornwall and vegetables, plus bread and desserts. In a true medieval way, eating with your hands; there are no forks or spoons. And don't forget to raise the glass and give a toast to the kings. This place is not available in your country that I know, I know – what happens in Vegas stays in Vegas. But if you're not careful, it could be the contents of your portfolio, savings account, and retirement funds that stay in Las Vegas, too. The 13 best free things to do in Las Vegas, while hotels come cheap in Las Vegas, attractions and shows don't. That's why you should supplement your trips to Las Vegas casinos, roller coasters, Cirque du Soleil shows and other expensive efforts with these free attractions. Here are 13 fun and free things to do in Las Vegas on your next trip. Bellagio Fountains and Conservatory & amp; Botanical Garden Andrew Zarivny/Shutterstock Bellagio's sources appear in almost every Las Vegas film ever made, including the iconic finale of Ocean's Eleven. Create your own crime caper or ultimate rom-com and catch Bellagio's sources into action; The free show plays every 15 to 30 minutes, depending on the time of day, and see that it's one of the best free things to do in Las Vegas. Hotel Italianate is thrillingly decorated with pop and classical music, and hundreds of separate fountains and water soaring into the air with the Italian hotel's façade as an impressive backdrop. When you've had your fountain fill up, take a quiet stroll through the Bellagio Conservatory and Botanical Garden, where horticultural keep an ever-changing variety of flowers, pergolas, bridges and ponds. The gardens are also free for visitors and provide a pleasant respite from the relentless desert sun. Fremont Street Experience Chad Zuber / Shutterstock Equal Parts mall, concert hall and light show, the Fremont Street Experience takes everything Las Vegas is known for (glitter, lights and gambling) and rolls it into a five-block area. The main attraction here is an Aglow barrel vault canopy with 12.5 million LED lights that take pedestrians to vintage casinos such as the Golden Nugget and the Four Queens. Guests can also enjoy free concerts by hard-rocking headliners throughout the summer. Art on The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas TripAdvisor I thought Las Vegas had no culture. The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas has amassed one of the most exclusive art collections in the country, providing a rupture of Strip bare skin eyebrows and penny slots. Fascinating facilities can be found in all public spaces in Cosmopolitan, including the lobby, stairs and even the garage. CBS Television City Research Center at MGM Grand TripAdvisor You may not be a network exec, but you can still feel yours At MGM Grand's CBS Television City Research Center, you can try out new TV shows and review potential pilots during hour-long screenings. It's one of the best free things to do in Las Vegas. Towards studios to test offers from CBS, MTV, Nickelodeon programs, and other viacom-owned channels. Register your opinion on a test monitor and consider yourself part of your TV history before returning to your regularly scheduled vacation. Circus Acts at Circus Circus Las Vegas TripAdvisor Looking for free shows in Las Vegas? The whole family will approve of circus events at Circus Circus. This special place on the Strip has long entertained guests with its Midway Carnival and countless circus acts. In fact, the station contains the largest permanent circus in the world. A rotating cast of jugglers, acrobats, aerials and roller skating stunts delights children of all ages (and cash-strapped parents who are home to their new carnival prizes). On the Midway's main stage is a touring show by circus circus resident clowns. Let all this entertainment be free for any phobia to the persistent clown. Downtown Container Park Kobby Dagan/Shutterstock A giant mechanical prayer mantis welcomes visitors to this outdoor park made from reused shipping containers. Here you will find shops, restaurants, bars and a stage for free live music performances. Children can enjoy The Treehouse, a play area with slide and building blocks, until 9 p.m. .m. every day (when the park becomes adults only). Wildlife Habitat in Flamingo Las Vegas Weichen/Shutterstock You'll likely encounter a variety of colorful creatures on the Las Vegas Strip, from party hen parties with anatomically correct lollipops to celebrities at their baddest behavior. A look at a different kind of flamboyance in Flamingo Las Vegas, with its habitat filled with pink birds. A flock (actually called flamboyance) of Chilean flamingos can be seen at the free exhibition, which also features a variety of swans, ducks, koi fish and turtles living between foliage and waterfalls. The habitat is located next to the pool area and is one of the great free things to do in Las Vegas for hotel guests and non-guests alike. Volcano in the Jerry Sharp / Shutterstock Mirage Well, this place has really exploded. With a soundtrack by Grateful Dead drummer Mickey Hart and Indian table drummer Zakir Hussain, the audiovisual/visual attraction of the Polynesian-themed Mirage throws fire into the air from 8 p.m.m. every night, becoming one of the most memorable free shows in Las Vegas. The smoke that the volcano douses more than 100 feet above the water is actually perfumed with a pleasant pina colada aroma (to cover the smell of natural gas). The show rivals the well-known Bellagio Fountains, another free Las Vegas attraction, just half a mile from the Strip. Hall of Fame TripAdvisor This nonprofit please-touch museum is actually the largest collection of pinball machines in the world. In 10,000 square feet of space, you'll find an assortment of over 200 pinball machines and arcade games from a half-century of game play And every game is playable, from a 1992 Super Mario Bros. machine to the 1947 heavy hitter wood. Admission is free, although games are operated with coins (25 or 50 cents per game). Just arm yourself with the knowledge that all the surplus income goes to charity. Who knew that doing good might feel like such good old-fashioned fun? Aquarium at Silverton Hotel and Casino TripAdvisor The only sting here is jellyfish. Constantly ranked one of the best free things to do in Las Vegas, the massive saltwater aquarium at the Silverton Hotel and Casino will transport you from the parched desert to a vast tropical oasis. About 117,000 gallons of salt water home thousands of fish, sharks, stingrays and reef plants. Interactive feeding demonstrations and a mermaid show complete the offerings. Welcome to Fabulous Las Vegas Sign f11photo / Shutterstock A selfie with this famous sign is imperative for your Instagram feed, and it won't cost you a penny. Located at 5100 S. Las Vegas Boulevard, the Welcome to Fabulous Las Vegas sign has marked the beginning of the Strip since 1959. Ethel M. Chocolates TripAdvisor Located near Henderson is one of the most delicious attractions in the Las Vegas area: Ethel M. Chocolates, where you can enjoy free samples, stroll through a cactus-filled botanical garden, and take a free self-guided tour through the factory to see how staff prepare Pecan Brittle, candy and other tasty treats. First Friday at the Sam Morris Arts District/Las Vegas News Bureau The first Friday night of each month, 5 p.m. to 2.m p.m..m, the Arts District of downtown Las Vegas opens its streets for portfolio and family fun. Find a variety of artists and vendors who advertise their products in addition to live music, activities for children, and a fleet of food trucks for peckish revelers.
